ELECTRONIC DIGITAL INSTRUMENT

ASSOCIATE OF SCIENCE DEGREE

The Electronic Digital Instrument Associate of Science Degree announces the EDI as the primary instrument of technical study in this purely digital 21st-century program. Students receive technical, musical, and practical training, including collaborative opportunities and live recording experience on an Electronic Digital Instrument in innovative musical situations. This groundbreaking workforce program trains students for work in the music industry by focusing exclusively on the intersection between electronic digital instruments and electronic pop music styles.

To acquire the Associate of Science in Electronic Digital Instrument, students must complete the required major courses below with a grade of "C" or better or of "P" if the course was taken on a Pass/No Pass basis, along with either of the following: Rio Hondo College General Education (RHC GE) or California General Education Transfer Curriculum (Cal-GET()). California State University General Education-Breadth (CSU GE) or Intersegmental General Education Transfer Curriculum (IGETC) may be used in some cases; please see a counselor for details.
